BLACKBURN, Anne M. Buddhist technologies of statecraft and millennial moments. History and Theory, 56 i (2017) pp. 71-79. "There are striking family resemblances between models and modes of kingship in the Safavid and Mughal worlds discussed by Azfar Moin [in The millennial sovereign: sacred kingship and sainthood in Islam] and those that characterized Buddhist kingship in the premodern Indian Ocean arena." Budizm 021046

TEHRANIAN, Majid & IKEDA, Daisaku.

Reflections on the global civilization: a dialogue.

London: Tauris, 2016. 204 pp. "Inspired by the encounters between Buddhism and Islam as they exchanged ideas and goods along the Silk Road, it brings together a Sufi Muslim from Iran and one of the world's most influential lay Buddhist leaders to explore the vibrant areas of common ground between the Islamic and Buddhist traditions."
