CONTENTS

SIXTH PREFATORY DISCUSSION  The various types of human beings who have supernatural perception either through natural disposition or through exercise, preceded by a discussion of inspiration and dream visions 70

CHAPTER 2  Bedouin civilization, savage nations and tribes and their conditions of life, including several basic and explanatory statements 91

CHAPTER 3  On dynasties, royal authority, the caliphate, government ranks, and all that goes with these things. The chapter contains basic and supplementary propositions 123

CHAPTER 4  Countries and cities, and all other forms of sedentary civilization. The conditions occurring there. Primary and secondary considerations in this connection 263

CHAPTER 5  On the various aspects of making a living, such as profit and the crafts. The conditions that occur in this connection. A number of problems are connected with this subject 297

CHAPTER 6  The various kinds of sciences. The methods of instruction. The conditions that obtain in these conditions 333

PREFATORY DISCUSSION  On man's ability to think, which distinguishes human beings from animals and which enables them to obtain their livelihood, to co-operate to this end with their fellow men, and to study the Master whom they worship, and the revelations that the Messengers transmitted from Him. God thus caused all animals to obey man and to be in the grasp of his power. Through his ability to think, God gave man superiority over many of His creatures
